Forecast for Monday 20 May 2024

Weather: Variable cloud and warm sunny spells throughout the day, with cloud most extensive across northern and eastern hills. This potentially thick enough for the odd heavy shower, with a low chance of the odd rumble of thunder. Most hills and routes remaining dry, especially those further south.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 90%

Low Cloud and visibility: Cloud persisting above summits for much of the day, though the odd scrap could descent to around 900m alongside any showers. Very good views expected for much of the day, with hills in excess of 25km away likely visible from the tops. However, this falling to a few km’s during any heavy rain.

Meteorologist's View

A largely fine day and with High UV, appropriate sun protection is essential. The odd heavy shower cannot be completely ruled out though, so packable waterproofs will be useful.

Forecast for Tuesday 21 May 2024

Weather: Dry through Tuesday morning with variable cloud and clear spells, but also turning chilly again in sheltered valleys by dawn. A largely fine, sunny start but cloud building more extensively than on Monday. This leading to a greater chance of heavy and perhaps thundery showers developing through the afternoon.

Maximum wind: Easterly 5-10mph

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 90%

Low Cloud and visibility: Cloud remaining largely above the summits, with just the odd patch down to 900m during and heavy or thundery showers. Very good views persisting away from showers, likely in excess of 25km, but falling to a few km during any heavy rain.

Temperature: Valleys: Plus 4 Celsius rising to Plus 21 Celsius
At 800m: Plus 9 Celsius rising to Plus 16 Celsius
Freezing level: Above summits
